Refused Licenses

Parents Classes Protest Against Granting Licenses to Two Drug Stores. City Sued on Paving Warrants.

The City council met in regular session Saturday evening, Mayor and all the members being present. Alma Greenwood and Clifford Young of the Home Coming Committee asked that the City Hall laws be used for meetings, etc., during the home coming week. The petition was granted. They also asked that other assistance be given. The council voted to supply the committee with the silver band for July 2, 3 and 4 without charge.

W. H. Chipman and Clifford Young, representing the Parents' Classes of the four wards, asked that licenses be withheld from the drug stores because of their permitting the sale of liquor behind prescription cases. The gentlemen could not supply any direct evidence, but were sure that much was being sold.

The head watermaster reported that the volume of water had decreased and recommended that hereafter only primary rights be given turns. The council voted to permit one more turn to holders of secondary rights.

Mrs. Sophia Greenwood was voted $4.75 as damages because of a ditch overflowing and drowning forty-five young chickens.

S. F. Grant asked that the city pay for part of a retaining wall in front of his place. The matter was referred to a committee.

City Attorney Whitecotton was present when the matter of granting the four drug stores licenses was taken up. Because of the representation made by the representatives of the Parents' Classes the four druggists were telephoned to be present. In turn they were each asked the question as to whether they permitted the sale of intoxicating liquors other than for prescriptions. William Thornton, Lawrence Briggs and F. M. Brown each emphatically denied that he sold any other than under prescription.

Pon Chipman, when asked the question, replied that he would not say that he had not done so. Later he expressed an opinion that any druggist who made statements to the contrary did so without regard to facts. Councilman Thornton, who was an applicant, did not take any part in the proceedings. Thornton was granted a license and the others were taken under advisement. Later, under the advice of the city attorney, Brown was granted a license because of no direct evidence against him. In the cases of Messrs. Briggs and Chipman the city attorney ruled that as both had been convicted in the justice's and district court, with the appeals now pending in the supreme court their licenses could be withheld. The order suspending their licenses will be effective from the 1st inst. and they were notified not to open after June 30. However, there is a disposition to grant them licenses, providing some satisfactory guarantee can be made to the council. Before the licenses can be granted there will have to be a special session of the city council.

The mayor and recorder were authorized to borrow $1,000 for city purposes.

The city attorney reported that he had accepted service in the case wherein Young and Moyle are conducting a friendly suit testing the validity of the city paving warrants.

At a special meeting held the week before the council voted $50 to the home coming committee. Councilman Hawkins was appointed to collect the pavement installments, and the city marshal was instructed to collect hotel and restaurant licenses from all who boarded more than two customers.

Special Session. Another special council meeting was held Tuesday evening, when an effort was made to have the council reconsider and grant licenses to the two druggists. The druggists promise to obey the law in the future, but the representatives of the Parents' Classes were also present and strenuously objected to granting the licenses, stating that similar promises had been made every three months for the past year. The council decided to let the action taken at the regular session stand.

Later it was decided to let Chipman and Briggs run their soda fountains and sell their perishable goods until after the Fourth.

So half of our drug stores after the Fourth will remain closed until some further action is taken.

An Appreciation

The following letter from Bishop C. W. Nibley shows that the efforts of the local old folks committee were duly appreciated by our Salt Lake friends.

"Bishop John Hunter, Chairman Old Folks' Committee, American Fork, Utah.

"Dear Brother:—In behalf of the old folks of Salt Lake City and the central committee, we take this occasion to express our appreciation of the entertainment that was given to the aged people at American Fork on June 24. We congratulate the members of your committee, together with all the aids and those associated with them, in providing such a splendid lunch and for the delightful and entertaining musical program. It was a glorious occasion and many expressions were heard on the return trip by the aged veterans of gratitude for the way and manner in which they were entertained and taken care of by your people.

"We particularly wish to commend the management of your stake for their particular notice, and say to them that it was one of the most successful and enjoyable occasions that we have ever had for our old people.

"Yours very respectfully,
"Old Folks' Central Committee,

Liquor is being sold right along in this town, and the worst part is that it is being sold to minors. A little quiet investigation by juvenile officers would have good effect.

Successful Decorative Effects

The decorations by Messrs. D. W. McAllister, Orson C. Dyer and Z. C. Salim, representing the Utah Botanical Decorating company, is one of the big features of the Home-Coming festivities.

Main street for five blocks is a blaze of patriotic glory, simple yet effective. The floats designed and decorated by Messrs. McAllister, Dyer and Salim are the most artistic creations ever shown here. The artistic success of their efforts amply justifies the action of the general committee in employing these experts.

Aspects of the Liquor Question

From the many recommendations received to the value of this book we quote the following:

"The Improvement Era of March, 1914, says:

"The Aspects of the Liquor Question" is a pamphlet written by Adolph Nielsen of American Fork, Utah. The pamphlet sets forth in plain, effective language the importance of this great subject.

The author pointedly answers the questions: Is the liquor business necessary? Is it scriptural? Does it pay? Is it legal? Is it moral? The pamphlet deserves wide circulation and careful reading by all who are interested in the right training of the young people, and by all who desire to avoid the evils that follow in the wake of liquor and the saloon.

"The American Fork Citizen says: 'One of the best additions to the literature on the liquor question is the recent twenty-nine page pamphlet on the above subject by Judge Adolph Nielsen of this city. The ordinary citizen does not have time to read the larger books published on the liquor question, and the small two or four-leaf pamphlets contain information entirely too meagre for such an important question. Judge Nielsen handles his subject fearlessly from five different aspects: Is it necessary? Is it scriptural? Does it pay? Is it legal? Is it moral? The information contains an answer for almost any phase of the question that ordinarily comes up, and that, too, in a forceful and convincing manner. It may truly be called a handbook on the liquor question and should be in the home of every advocate of temperance.'

The price is but 15 cents a copy. This book is on sale by all local dealers in Alpine State.—Adv.-it
